A Note From the Director of Seussical Jr.

Welcome to Spotlight Youth Theatre's production of Seussical Jr.,

When you think Seussical, you probably think fun music, bright costumes, and bigger than life characters. But when you look closely, there are many lessons to learn from this show.

Horton teaches loyalty, responsibility, and the importance of doing the right thing even when it is difficult. He shows that true strength lies in kindness.

JoJo teaches the value of a wild imagination and that "thinks" can change the world, while eventually learning to balance creativity with responsibility.

Gertrude McFuzz shows self-acceptance and self-worth, growing from insecurity to realizing that her true value comes from within, not her outward appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayor represent the struggle of balancing responsibility with creativity, eventually learning to embrace their son's unique perspective.

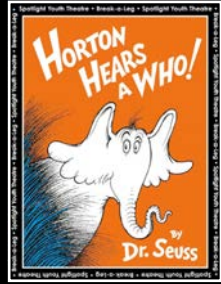

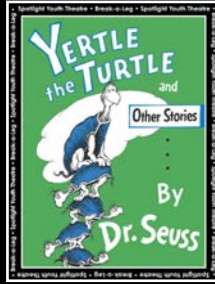

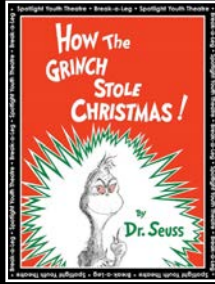

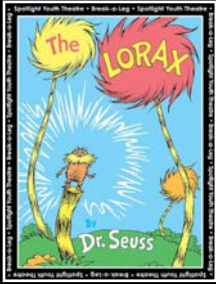

The Wickershams represent peer pressure and the dangers of bullying or following the crowd, proving that you should think for yourself.

Seussical teaches that a person's worth is not determined by size, appearance, or conformity, but by kindness, loyalty, and imagination. We all can learn from the wise Dr. Seuss and the stories told in this show.

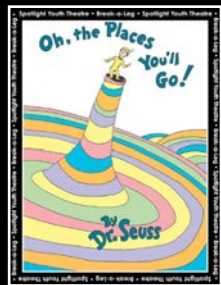

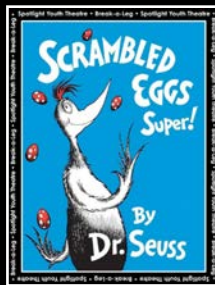

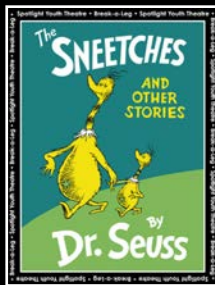

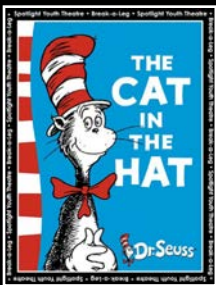

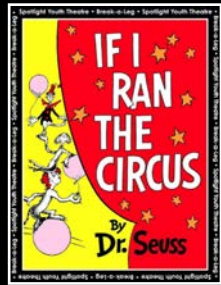

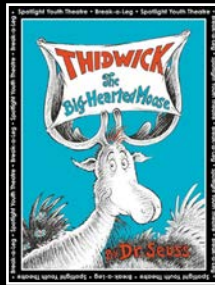

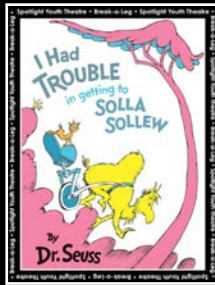

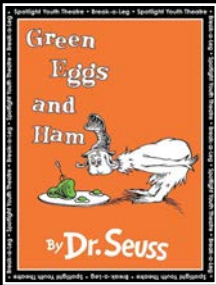

Enjoy the show!

Kelly Swope
